Royal Horses Reach Canada

"Aldebaran", Arab stallion, belonging to the Prince of Wales, was with "Crusader", a Clyde stallion, a recent passenger on Canadian Pacific steamship Minnow, and went to the Terrence Exhibition as a break in their long journey across Canada to the Prince's ranch at High River. Aldebaran, like his royal master, is of democratic temperament and made no fuss about going for the photographer. Inset is a close-up of the horse. The Prince has some high class blood stock in his ranch and these horses with a number of others that have come or are coming over to Canada in the near future, will have an effect on breeding all through the west that will be a boon to farmers and stock raisers.

THE PERCENTAGE WAS AGAINST HIM

Back in 1925 when winning a ball game, especially one on the road, was an event to be heralded far and wide for the Beaumont Exporters of the Tena League, there was a young man with the team, Happy Gus Fowman, a little Jewish left handed pitcher who could hit a ball much better than he could throw one, and that was saying quite a bit. In 1924 Gus had travelled in Europe with the White Sox on their tour with the Giants and Gus had met McGraw quite casually.

But as casual as it might have been one would have thought he was the big fishman's brother to hear him boast of the acquaintance.

To get back to the story, Gus pitched a brilliant game about the first the Exporters had won in two or three weeks, against Shreveport on the road. The day after that he received a message of congratulations signed "John J. McGraw".

He took the telegram and showed it to all of the players, the manager, Dutch Beem, to say nothing of showing it to several of his Shreveport friends—Shreveport being his home town.

Everything was okay with that until Happy found out that it was a hoax and sent by Bernie Derivatives, a former member of the Calgary Bronks under Bill Rogers. Fred Leach, Grand O'Brien and Jake Jacobson. He went to see the Western Union company, but was reminded that the message bore a Shreveport date line and that they didn't know the sender had used the name of one of the game's notables.

The said Gus didn't even associate with the players for about two weeks.

APPROACHING HOCKEY SEASON

Hockey interest is beginning to pick up throughout the United States and Canada, preparatory to the opening of the season. The National Hockey League is only an organization apparently certain of its personnel and the big league is still talking about the possibilities of the Pittsburgh franchise.

The Canadian Professional League will hold its annual meeting next month to decide upon the circuit. The league may be curtailed to six clubs or may be expanded to ten but the possibilities are in favor of the former plan. Detroit, Buffalo, London, Niagara Falls and Stratford are the only sure starters. There has been some talk of Rochester and Cleveland settling in to build new arenas and is not likely to leave one just to get into Can Pro.

The franchise of the St. Louis Flyers in the American Hockey Association probably will be under new ownership this season. It is understood it has been sold to Walter Whistler, president of the Tulsa Oilers of the same league. What Whistler will do with two clubs in the same league remains to be seen although there is a possibility that Tulsa will be transferred elsewhere under new ownership.

It is understood the St. Louis venture lost about $15,000 last year, and that P. J. McDonald Jr. was not keen for continuing although there is said to be great possibilities in the Mount City as a hockey town and that with proper capital and promising might qualify for faster company.

Boston, one of the best hockey towns in the country remains the center of much contention, as the result of a feud between Charlie Adams, president of the Bruins, and George Brown head of the Canadian-Americans, precipitated by the withdrawal of Adams from the Boston Arena to the new Garden. Brown sued Adams and the Bruins for damages for breach of contract and loss of rental.

It is understood that Brown is anxious to sell his franchise, but stipulates that none of the Bruins' backers shall bet their hands on it. If the club is sold, however, it is believed the suit against Adams will be dropped. Henry Lapham, the biggest individual stockholder in the Bruins and the Canadian-Americans, is said to be anxious to get out from under and if he disposes of his stock all of it undoubtedly will go to the buyers. The reported price for the majority control is $80,000.

NAME FIRST YACHT DATE IN 1930

New York—The first race for the American cup under the auspices of the New York yacht club will take place Sept. 20, 1929, between the United States entry and the Royal Ulster club of Belfast, Ireland. The race was set, following the challenge for the famous trophy by Sir Thomas Lipton.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Bennett are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby boy. Baby Vallie Barron is recovering nicely after the operation on his eye.

Mr. E. Hugley and C. Colwell are building large new barns this fall. The Langdon and Bow River School Fair was held Monday, Sept. 9th. The day was drizzly, but the people came just the same. The exhibits were not so large as last year, due no doubt to the hail storm, but Mr. Benn said it was the best school fair held here, as the quality of every thing was good. Oakland, Wainwright, Arbovat, Kent, Fairplay and Langdon (2 units) were the schools represented. The sports program was held in the afternoon, but the staging, public speaking, etc. will be held sometime later. The W. I. served cocoa to the children, and sold hot dogs, coffee, cake and ice cream, proceeds to go to the school fair.

ADVERTISING PAYS
MANUFACTURERS, RETAILERS AND CONSUMER

Carlton Chronicle, in discussing the question of who pays for advertising makes the following very interesting statement:

It is amazing how few people—even busy business men—know the fundamental principles of advertising and yet it is not a business that is not in some way directly or indirectly seriously affected by advertising.

The people who really ought to know better will argue that advertising adds to the cost of selling. Successful salesmen sometimes argue that "the firm advertising came out of its salary"—just as if they were drawing more money if their firm did not advertise.

The position that some salesmen level toward advertising is basically the same as the position of an unthinking mechanic toward labor-saving machinery.

Advertised products sell more easily and save often than non-advertised products. Advertising not only sells goods, it increases the volume of its purchases and speeds up turnover.

Salaries come out of profits and profits come from sales. Sales are not volume of production. If sales is not there, then the profit per unit of sales is proportionately smaller.

The manufacturer does not pay, because advertising increases the demand for his product. The increased volume reduces the manufacturer's overhead and makes possible a decreased selling price. Besides the manufacturer obtains intangible but highly saleable goodwill.

The retailer does not pay for advertising. Advertising increases his turnover, bringing him quicker profits on his investment.

The consumer does not pay for advertising. He obtains the benefit of the increased volume of production.

THE FINANCIAL POST GETS AFTER THE TORONTO GLOBE IN REGARD TO ITS OPINION ABOUT THE TARIFF.

The "Toronto Globe" believes that Canada's answer to United States tariffs should take the form of:

1. Lowering duties against British goods as far as possible, while remembering the just claims of the Canadian manufacturer.
2. Raising duties against United States goods as far as possible without imposing undue burden on the Canadian consumer.

Both of these are easier said than done. They are like the letter sent by a parent to the schoolmaster asking that he should stop his son as hard as he liked without hurting him.

"The Globe" is not quite on the right track in its first suggestion. "The Globe" would have difficulty explaining how Canada can offset the loss of American markets for our goods simply by lowering the tariff on British goods. But if "The Globe" were to develop its idea and suggest that Canada can meet the tariff hostility of the United States, France, Italy and other countries by arranging further preferential tariff agreements with other British nations, which would reduce the duties on certain items in exchange for preferences in items important to Canada, it would be closer to the mark in a wise and practical course.

JACK CRELLIN receiving "new star" advice regarding the ladies from Principal Calkin at the Normal School. JEAN KIMMETT giving the one over to the number in the King Edward Hotel, to be used in a cutting risk at Standard. GED, H. BROWN dispatching a couple of dogs out to the hay barn hunting grounds. "PAT" trying to explain to the ladies at the school Park, when, where and how to have the summer and he only needed a few of the fair sex. That "bird" surely thinks he could get away with King Edward, Ontario and who has received. DAVID MCKAY, congratulating himself, the President, the Judge, Principal Crocker, the weather man and the citizens for the success of the School Fair, and Scotch this, that and all expenses were paid, that a few "babes" will still remain in the strong box. GEORGE JONES and the new volume was at New Westminster. THOMAS trying to persuade Jim Martin that it would be safe to let him have a license for road shooting. BOB HAMBLY trying to keep Frank Seales cool and suave, but gave up the job as hopeless. HARRY MINKER helping to make a bonfire.

—Mrs Newby—Oh, you did sleep daily with the wallpaper, darling! But what are those funny lumps?

—Mr Newby—Good heavens! I forgot to take down the pictures.

"Suppose, Dad, the teacher was trying to explain the meaning of 'exquisite'." Suppose your papa has worked very hard all day, and he is tired and worn out, isn't he?

"Yes, teacher."

"Then what shall you do and his work is over for the day, what do you do?"

"That's just what mother wants to know," replied Bessie.
